FEAST OF TABERNACLES.

The Feast of Tabernacles, also known as the Feast of Ingathering and the Feast of Booths, will begin tomorrow evening at sunset. Services appropriate to the occasion will be held in the Jewish Synagogue on North Washington street at 6:30 p. m. This was one of the great festivals of the Jews, on which all males were required to make pilgrimages to the temple at Jerusalem.

The feast is agricultural in origin, as is shown by the ceremonies accompanying it and from the season of its celebration. It was more particularly a thanksgiving for the fruit harvest, and was likewise regarded as a general thanksgiving for the bounties of nature in the year that had passed.

The erecting of booths during the festival is a feature of the observance in many places. Some Jews erect booths in the yards of their homes and eat their meals therein. The booths are built after specific directions and of a certain size. Booths are also erected in the synagogues. The booths have a symbolic meaning, that of the shelters erected during the wandering of the Jews in the wilderness, as the following quotation indicates: "That your generation may know that I made the children of Israel to dwell in booths, when I brought them out of the land of Egypt."

There is a prophecy in the 14th chapter of the book of Zechariah which foretells a time when all nations will be required to go up to Jerusalem for the purpose of celebrating the Feast of Tabernacles.
